Former Chief Engineer of P. R. R. Died on Saturday

LONG BORO RESIDENT

Alexander Capie Shand, former chief engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and for twenty-one years a resident of Narberth, died Saturday at his home at the Cambridge, Alden Park, Germantown, at the age of seventy-one years. He had been ill for several months.

Funeral services held Monday at the Narberth Presbyterian Church at 2:30 were in charge of the Rev. John Van Ness, pastor of the church, and the Rev. R. B. Beattie, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of East Orange, N. J.

Honorary pall bearers included Thomas Skillman, of Ardmore; Wesley C. Fitzgerald, of Rydal; Horace Booz, of Wynnewood; Alan Sloane, of Cynwyd; John F. Murray, of Moylan; Thomas Cobert, of Germantown; W. S. B. McCaleb, of St. Davids, and Edward S. Haws, of Narberth. Interment took place in Valley Forge Cemetery.

Mr. Shand, who was born in Scotland, came to this country in 1878. The following year he began work with the Pennsylvania Railroad. Promotions followed and in 1906 he became chief engineer of the entire system, which position he held until appointed assistant to the vice president in 1927. In this post he assisted in the development of plans for the Pennsylvania's new terminal at West Philadelphia.

He retired from active service in July, 1928, at the age of seventy, universally recognized as an outstanding leader in the field of railroad engineering.

Mr. Shand's interest in community affairs was very strong. One of the founders of the Narberth Civic Association, he was instrumental in that organization's development of Narbrook Park. Mr. Shand was also responsible for the acquisition of the

A routine meeting of the Narberth Board of Trade was held Monday evening in the Women's Community Club room of Elm Hall. Several matters were discussed, but in the absence of a quorum no action was taken.

To Study Great Religious Paintings in Unique Services

A unique series of Sunday evening services are planned at the Baptist Church of the Evangel beginning this week. In place of the sermon, the pastor, the Rev. Robert E. Keighton, will present two of the great paintings of religious themes. Each picture will be thrown on the screen for ten or fifteen minutes and will be the subject of a critical study.

For this Sunday, March 16, the pictures to be considered are "Anno Domini," by Edwin Long, and "The Star of Bethlehem," by Sir Edward Burne-Jones. The series is planned for the next four Sunday evening services.

Advocates Reform in Politicians' Dress

Senator Boyd Favors Roman Toga in Talk at Tailors' Banquet.

GREEN ALSO SPEAKS

A reform in male attire, particularly among politicians and Senators, was advocated by State Senator James C. Boyd, of Norristown, at the second annual banquet of the Main Line Tailors and Cleaners' Association held Tuesday night at the Brookline Square Club.

A desire for a return to the silk hat and Prince Albert coat for the representatives of the people and their intermediaries, was expressed by the Norristown Senator. "Then in summer," he said, "they could array themselves in the toga of ancient Rome."

"I look upon a tailor as a professional man in the true sense of the term. A physician takes care of a man's interior, and a tailor of his exterior, and in my opinion is just as

Bus Company Seeks to Discontinue Two Lines

A petition was filed with the Public Service Commission on February 25 by the Montgomery Bus Company, owned by the P. R. R. and P. R. T., asking permission to discontinue the Narberth Short Line and the Wynnewood Road—Bryn Mawr Line.

When interviewed in his office at Bryn Mawr on Tuesday, an official of the bus company stated that he had nothing to say about the matter until a decision was handed down by the Public Service Commission.

It is thought that lack of sufficient patronage on these two lines is responsible for the action. The Wynnewood Road line, operating from Overbrook to Bryn Mawr, through Wynnewood Road and Montgomery Avenue, was put into operation in March, 1928. Several protests were made at the time, particularly by Merion residents, but they proved unavailing.

The Narberth Short Line, running from the Narberth station to Fifty-fourth Street and City Line, through Cynwyd and Bala, was originally operated by Vincent Mariani, of Narberth. It was taken over by the Philadelphia Suburban Transit Company, and purchased by the Montgomery Bus Company about four years ago.

No action on the matter has yet been taken by the Public Service Commission.

Talks on Fire Prevention

How Girl Scouts should conduct themselves at a fire was told by John A. Miller, deputy fire chief of the Narberth Fire Company, at a meeting of Narberth's Girl Scout Troop, held in their headquarters Tuesday evening. Thirty-two were present.

Mr. Miller was introduced by Mrs. John C. Nash, captain of the troop, and Mrs. J. C. Cook, lieutenant. His topic, "Fire Prevention," included information on preventing fires, combating them, reporting them promptly and accurately, and giving first aid.

Resident Protests Garage Which Shuts Off His Light; Construction Halted by Fire Chief as Menace

What constitutes a fire hazard? That question is now perplexing Narberth Borough officials in the case of a garage being erected by Corindo Nepi in the rear of his property at 245 Hampden Avenue, Narberth, which backs up against Woodbine Avenue properties, on which work was ordered stopped by Fire Chief Charles V. Noel on the ground that it constituted a fire hazard.

A protest was made at Council Monday night by Louis di Louis, 234 Woodbine Avenue, against the garage because it shuts off the light in the rear of his house, being right right up to the property line and two stories in height. Louis pointed out the impossibility of using the window as a means of escape in case of fire, due to the garage being built so close to it.

The case is further complicated by an overlapping of Borough Ordinances on the subject. In accordance with Ordinance No. 216, approved January 8, 1923, a private garage may not be erected closer than ten feet to any building. Then in conflicting terms the Zoning Ordinance, adopted July 14, 1924, states that in a business district buildings may be erected to cover the entire lot of the owner subject only to restrictions as to access and setbacks for the walls with openings.

The garage in question is fourteen feet by twelve feet, and was to be located on the southeast corner of the property. It was found that due to the narrow width of the lot there was not enough room to get the car into the garage if located in that corner. Mr.

Court Approves Application on Tuesday; to Plant Section.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

A charter of incorporation was granted Tuesday of this week to the Penn Valley Association, the newly-formed Lower Merion community, by the Montgomery County Court at Norristown.

Penn Valley includes the section bounded roughly by Mill Creek Road, State Road, Merion Park and Montgomery Avenue.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the association held last Wednesday, March 5, the chairman of the Landscape Committee, A. E. Wohler, was authorized to proceed immediately with the erection of artistic metal signs at the principal entrances to the district. He was also instructed to begin the planting of flowering cherry trees along certain of the roads in the territory.

It is the intention of the residents of Penn Valley to plant every year a certain number of flowering cherry trees with the idea that ultimately this section will have each of its roads lined with these trees. It is hoped that ultimately Penn Valley will be

CLINKERS

Clinkers in your furnace are caused by the melting of the ash and its subsequent cooling when the direct, intense heat is removed.

The ashes from different coals melt (or fuse) at different temperatures, depending upon their chemical makeup, and those melting temperatures or fusion points vary roughly from 2000° to 3000° Fahrenheit.

Jeddo-Highland coal has an average fusion point of over 3000°. Since this is a temperature seldom reached by the fire in a domestic furnace, clinkering troubles for the household are reduced to a minimum through the use of Jeddo-Highland coal.

Chevrolet Announces New Service Policy

Free Replacement of Any Defective Part Keynote, Says Cynwyd Dealer.

The Chevrolet Motor Company announced this week a new and broader service policy, according to Christian H. Kirsch, of the Kirsch Chevrolet Co., dealers for Narberth and Bala-Cynwyd. Any Chevrolet owner, experiencing defective workmanship or material on a Chevrolet car under the terms of Chevrolet's standard warranty, is invited to call upon any authorized Chevrolet dealer in the United States or Canada, where the work will be done at no cost to him.

The plan, known as the Owner's Service Policy, is now in effect in the 10,000 authorized Chevrolet service stations in the United States, operating under the general supervision of the fifty-two Chevrolet branch offices.

The new policy takes the form of a written agreement given the purchaser by the Chevrolet dealer when the new car is delivered. It puts down in plain, understandable language the greater service protection to which every Chevrolet owner is now entitled. Briefly, it offers the following provisions:

1. Every Chevrolet owner receives his car from the dealer in perfect condition—thoroughly lubricated, properly adjusted and ready to operate efficiently from the first mile of ownership.

2. Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection and adjustment of his car at the end of the first 500 miles of usage. This includes checking and adjusting the brakes, tappets, timing, generator, carburetor, clutch pedal, and steering gear; tightening all body bolts; tightening all motor bolts; testing and filling battery and checking the oil level in the transmission and rear axle. The dealer assumes no responsibility for previous adjustments when they have been made in service stations other than his own.

3. Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection of his car every 1000 miles thereafter so long as the car is in operation.

4. Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free replacement of any part, which may prove defective, either in workmanship or in material, within the terms of Chevrolet's standard warranty, provided such parts and labor are not required because of accident or mechanical abuse. This includes both parts and labor. This provision will be carried out by any Chevrolet dealer in the United States. Accordingly, the Chevrolet owner may change his residence, or travel to any part of the country with the full assurance that the guarantee on materials and workmanship will give him complete protection.

In all Chevrolet dealers' service stations there are employed skilled mechanics, thoroughly trained at Chevrolet service schools. These stations are equipped with specially-designed tools and machinery developed exclusively for Chevrolet service work. The factory issues the assurance too that each carries at all times a complete stock of genuine Chevrolet replacement parts. And the rates charged are standard flat rates, including both parts and labor, and are the lowest in the industry on many service and repair operations.

Forum to Consider Elijah at Next Meeting Thursday

King David, a man of mixed vices and virtues, when viewed by modern eyes, but who evidently was completely virtuous and heroic in the minds of his contemporaries and of biblical chroniclers, was the subject of the discussion at the eighth meeting of the Forum last Thursday evening at the home of Rev. Robert E. Keighton, the leader, on Avon Road. King David did not promote so much discussion as have some of the previous subjects. This may have been due to the fact that some of the Forum members seemed principally to disapprove of him.

The next meeting will be held on the evening of the 20th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Custer, 219 Avon Road. These meetings begin at 8 o'clock and close promptly at 10. They are open to all who care to attend. The prophet Elijah will be the subject of the lecture and discussion next Thursday evening.

Religious music for the phonograph; Eva Le Gallienne and the Civic Repertory Theatre coming; rehearsals under way for Mask and Wig.

The growth of interest in high-class recorded music during the past few years has been phenomenal. This has been due to a large extent to improved recording methods, and to an effort on the part of domestic and foreign gramophone companies to make available the best in music.

Several of Victor's recent achievements will be of great interest to lovers of church music, and to Catholics in particular. A great many recordings of church music have come from the studios of various companies recently, and special mention was made of four of these by Barclay H. Azpell, Victor dealer in Ardmore, last week.

On March 1 appeared two records by the Piux X Choir, of the Ordinary of the Mass, a Gregorian Chant with intonation by the Rev. Vincent Donovan. The authenticity and beauty of these records have been attested by many interested in the movement for the propagation of Gregorian music.

Stainer's Crucifixion, a six-disk album by Tibbett, and Crooks, with choir and organ, and the third act of Wagner's "Parsifal" complete the imposing issue of religious music. This latter album was made in Germany by the Gramophone Company, Limited, and was just released in this country.

An older religious album, which fits well with the others at this season, is Beethoven's Missa Solennis, an album of 12 discs by the Orfeo Catala de Barcelona.

The two weeks' engagement of the Civic Repertory Theatre, Eva Le Gallienne, director, at the Broad Street Theatre, which will again be sponsored by the Philadelphia Art Alliance, has been definitely set for April 9 to 19 inclusive.

The demand for seats for all the Civic Repertory plays this season has proved that there is an audience for the kind of plays Miss Le Gallienne is producing and because of this demand, she has decided to institute for this season a subscription of four plays at reduced rates for all who wish to subscribe for the entire repertory.

For her Philadelphia engagement this season Miss Le Gallienne has chosen "The Sea Gull," by Anton Tchekov, in which Jacob Ben Ami plays the famous role of Trigorin. "The Sea Gull" was unanimously acclaimed by the New York press as one of the outstanding hits of the current season in New York. Due to the great demand for "John Gabriel Borkman," Henrik Ibsen's masterpiece, Miss Le Gallienne will again give Philadelphia theatregoers the opportunity of seeing her in the part of Ella Renheim, and Egon Brecher in the title role: "The Women Have Their Way," by the Quinteri Brothers, authors of "The Lady From Alfaqueque" and "A Sunny Morning" will also be included. "The Women Have Their Way," her newest production this season, which is now playing to capacity audiences in New York, is one of the most delightful and altogether charming comedies in her entire repertory. The fourth play in her repertory for Philadelphia will be "Romeo and Juliet," Shakespeare's well-known tragedy, in which Miss Le Gallienne will play the role of Juliet and Donald Cameron, Romeo.

"Peter Pan" will be given at matinee performances only and will not be included in the subscription group. Tickets for all "Peter Pan" performances will be sold at the regular box office prices.

Miss Le Gallienne will have a prominent role in every play in her repertory this season.

An outstanding feature of "John Faust, Ph. D.," the forty-second annual production of the Mask and Wig Club of the University of Pennsylvania, to be offered at the Garrick Theatre for two weeks commencing April 21, will be the glee chorus.

Passing On

"I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course and I have kept the faith."

In departing this earthly life and passing on how many can truly say that they have kept faith with themselves and with their fellow-men?

During the past week the world has lost a citizen who indeed did much to make the world a better place in which to live.

It was the opportunity of many residents of the community of Narberth to know and love this man who lived and labored with us as our dear friend and neighbor.

True to every trust, faithful to every duty, helpful to every worthy cause. Kind, gentle and patient.

To know him was to love him and to love him was to add much to the sweetness of life.

Three score and ten. We who remain to carry on must feel that such lives should be longer, but we are reminded—

"We can make our lives sublime

And departing leave behind us

Footprints on the sands of time."

The footprints are here and will remain for many years to remind us that a fine character has lived among us.

The world has gained much. Great lives live on. Let us pray that we may help to carry on the good fight, that we keep faith and that we may finish our course in the noble manner of that fine friend and citizen—Alexander C. Shand.

(R. J. E.)

Building a Community

So much reference is made to the "Main Line" in the Philadelphia area that a stranger is likely to consider the section as approaching a fair-sized unincorporated city that might well adopt a municipal form of government. If he were to dwell anywhere from Overbrook to Paoli long enough to acquire the feel of things, however, he would realize that each of the several communities of which the Main Line is comprised has a character and individuality peculiar to itself. Similar in many respects there are points of contrast between Merion and Haverford, Narberth and Cynwyd, Ardmore and Bryn Mawr.

It is always of especial interest, therefore, to watch the beginning and subsequent development of a new community. Questions that arise are: Will it measure up to its predecessors? What type of people will make their homes in it? Will its growth be slow and substantial or of the mushroom variety?

Latest and to all appearances most welcome of the new community movements is that of Penn Valley. Interested in it are some of the keenest business men in the suburbs, but men also recognized as civic leaders. Announcements of their plans to date indicate a desire to erect upon the background of a naturally beautiful setting improvements harmonious in every detail. Prediction is guesswork, but it is an early guess that Penn Valley will be another stronghold against the encroachment of the less desirable urban aspects.

Prepare to Vote

On Tuesday and Wednesday next registry assessors will sit at the polling places in each district of Lower Merion Township and Narberth to enroll the names of those not already on the lists. It behooves every citizen, not already registered, to take this preliminary step that he may be eligible to vote at the May primaries and at the November election. Every year the press, generally, urges registration as a matter of civic duty, but this year in particular there is need that the total vote cast be representative of the composite tenets of Pennsylvania on several questions of extreme importance.

The State's two most important offices are to be filled, those of Governor and of junior United States Senator. Were there no other issue at stake except the selection of the best men for the posts, that should be sufficient to bring out the electorate in force. But it seems quite probable there will be vastly important issues involving State political control, industry, labor and the perennial problem of Prohibition. These are a few of the direct and indirect questions the voter must answer in casting his ballot.

In all probability the Republican primaries will be the deciding factor, so register Tuesday or Wednesday—in time to vote when your ballot will carry its most weight.

UNCLE CY'S COLUMN

Two Letters.

Dear Uncle Cy,
You and I differ fundamentally, basically, radically. Our temperaments and our mentalities (conceding for the sake of the argument the existence of such a thing in you) clash and clash again. My idea is that a column should be interesting, educating or humorous. Your idea, seemingly, is that it should be none of these. Let us do away with all deceiving appearances and call it "Uncle Cy's Cemetery." The last resting place of decayed brains and wandering minds.

Any of the lower strata of the genus moron can contribute a member sufficiently intelligent to borrow a thesaurus and copy down a list of words which he can never hope either to pronounce or understand. Your audience has done nothing to merit the cruel and unusual punishments of the last few weeks. If Florence Evans insists further upon being as supremely infantile as your worthy self, I, for one, will contribute my share towards the costs of her midday meal, to the end that she may be silenced at least temporarily.

As for Rebecca Jackson, the lady who has taken for fifty years an interest in prohibition (or was it gin drinking?), all that can be said is that fifty more years of interest applied to the subject will probably prove insufficient to rectify her sublime misconceptions. Freedom to err as an American birthright? Bosh, unadulterated and blathering bosh. Were her automobile to be stolen, were her relatives to be murdered in their beds, would she condone the actions as falling within the offender's divine freedom to err? I have doubts on the question. I am inclined to believe that she would call in the police.

It is unfortunate that her sole social acquaintances are sots. But if the children of today are not taught temperance, it is not the fault of prohibition. Post hoc is not necessarily propter hoc. It is the fault of the generation of Uncle Cy and of Aunt Rebecca. If all the sins which the dying generation attributes to the rising one are realities, but few of the passing generation, who have been both the tutors and the exemplars of the rising one, will be seen within the pearly gates of Heaven. Those in the latter stages of senility, I imagine, characteristically attempt to derive pleasure from the thought that youth is hastening to the bow-wows. It is a mistaken belief. Rebecca is confused by the sight of a few exceptions and loses all sight of the rule. I have yet to meet a young man, ashamed because of sobriety; I have yet to meet a young man respecting a drunken girl.

I regard prohibition as unfortunately and unwisely placed in our rigid constitution. But we can remove it just as easily as we put it there, and not one whit more easily. Until it is removed, it is the law, and will be obeyed by all good citizens. Those who would squawk the loudest at any upheaval which disturbed the existing laws of private property, those who are most alarmed by the arising communistic conceptions regarding capital and labor, are curiously inconsistent in their flouting of an existing law.

You should write the column yourself, my middle-aged friend. I would do it for you, had I the time and were the remuneration sufficient. But your feminine contributors are ruining it. Full of sound and fury signifying nothing. And dump that thesaurus overboard. Your column for the last three issues has been written by people who can't write, on subjects which they do not understand, for the education and enlightenment of a mythical audience who have entirely ceased to read it.

Truly yours,
JESS A. LITTLEKISS.

Jess, your puerile impudence and rudeness to Miss Evans and Miss Jackson is inexcusable. I shall try to answer your other points in next week's column although they are obviously not worthy of any response.

Good Shows Continue at Narberth Theatre

"Perfect sound and good pictures," according to Maurice Fried, of the Narberth Theatre ownership-management, "are two features responsible for the large attendance in the past two weeks. Our new 1930 Vitaphone and Movietone Western Electric equipment is functioning to the satisfaction of hundreds of new talkie fans."

Today and tomorrow the Narberth Theatre is playing "A Song of Kentucky," with Lois Moran and Joseph Wagstaff. It is a comedy love story with the Kentucky Derby as a background, recorded by Fox Movietone.

Next Monday and Tuesday the feature will be "Second Choice," a drama of modern marriage and morals, starring Dolores Costello. "The Four Feathers" will be featured Wednesday and Thursday, with William Powell, Richard Arlen, Clive Brook and Fay Wray. Filmed largely in the jungle, it is regarded as a masterpiece of cinema dramatic entertainment.

Announced as coming soon are "The Taming of the Shrew," next Friday and Saturday, with Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford; and "Sunny Side Up," March 24, 25 and 26.

Doubles For Ill Sister
to Make Play Success

"Robert and Mary," presented by the Standard Bearers of the Methodist Episcopal Church last Thursday evening, was declared the best missionary play ever presented in Narberth despite the fact that Miss Dorothy Chalfont, cast as Jane, the Scotch maid, was taken seriously ill on the day of the entertainment and could not take her part. However, her sister, Beulah, who was Katrina, one of the Dutch girls, rose to the occasion and played Dorothy's part so admirably, in addition to her own part, that the audience was not aware she had had such a short time to learn the second role.

Miss Anna McCracken, who played Mary, was greatly admired by all, and her devoted missionary fiancé, Robert, played by Thomas Hawthorne, was a handsome figure in his formal suit and high silk hat. Others in the cast were Reuben Nordblum as a Scotch nursery gardener; Mrs. James Smith, his English wife, Catharine Patton; friends of Mary, Ruth Walker, Dorothy Miller, Mary Lentz and Ruth Lebo; Mynheer Vandervicker, Boer farmer, James Bailey; Vrua Vandervicker, his wife, Margaret Robertson; Wilhelmina and Juliana, their daughters, Catharine Heydler and Esther Clegg. Several vocal numbers were appreciated.

A musical program was given by Benjamin Schneider, violin; Miss Ruth Lebo, reader, and Miss Pauline Lucas, soprano.

Hikers

To the Editor of Our Town:

A group of young people of Narberth have been enjoying some extensive cross-country hiking. The crowd starts out in cars and we ride until a likely spot is reached. Then off we go climbing over fences, leaping creeks, scrambling over rocks and down hill-sides. The rougher the going the more we like it.

In these scouting trips many interesting facts are discovered and interesting sights are encountered. Places located within a few miles of Narberth and yet unknown to the average resident are discovered.

For instance: what person in Narberth knows that there is a place in the Schuylkill River where gold fish abound, some of which are seven and eight inches in length? Then again there is the tunnel located not so far from the Borough that is over 1000 feet long.

You do not need to go to Greece or Egypt to view the ruins of the past. Just within walking distance of your home there are ruins that mark the life of former times. Ancient farm houses, old mills and ice houses.

Then there is the historic old Schuylkill Canal, picturesque evidence of the day when this old waterway was the chief mode of transportation up the Schuylkill valley. It is rather decrepit in its old age but time was when this old canal was the pride of the countryside. Most of the coal and farm produce came into Philadelphia on flat-boats. Do you know that in the early days river excursions were the rage and many a jolly crowd took excursions up and down the river and used this old canal in its passage?

If you do not believe these things are true come hiking with us some Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Join the jolly crowd in front of the Narberth Presbyterian Church. Better still come to the Young People's Bible Class on Sunday morning at 9:45 and get acquainted. If you are a stranger, you will not be after the first meeting.

Fortnightly Club Presents Fine Volume to Library

For several years it has been the delightful custom of the Fortnightly Club to make an annual gift of a fine book to the Narberth Community Library. Their donations have included:

Eberlein & McClure, "Practical Book of Period Furniture."

Eberlein & McClure, "Practical Book of Chinaware."

Lewis, "Practical Book of Oriental Rugs."

Webster, "Quilts."

Knittle, "Early American Glassware."

This year they have stepped out of the house to choose "The Aristocrats of the Garden," by Ernest H. Wilson, keeper of the Arnold Arboretum, who spent many years exploring for desirable trees and shrubs in Asia. Since woody plants are Mr. Wilson's chief interest, one would rightly assume that his "aristocrats" are mainly of that class. This book is invaluable as a guide in choosing the best material for landscaping home grounds, parks, or highways, for it indicates the faults, as well as virtues and needs of growing things. It is less helpful on the cultural side, though close reading reveals scattered bits of advice. The Prologue is a veritable sermon to the amateur gardener. Read that, though you skim the rest.

To Hold Sale

A "white elephant" and cake sale will be held next Friday, March 21, from 2 until 5 o'clock, at 235 Haverford Avenue, by the Evangel Circle of King's Daughters. Proceeds of the sale will be used to pay for the new floor covering of the kitchen and pantry of the Home for the Aged, 10 Sabine Avenue, Narberth.

Mrs. Edwards Hostess

A meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be held at the home of Mrs. C. E. Edwards, 507 Dudley Avenue, on Thursday, March 20, at 2:30.

Think Sharp!

When is an edged tool
not an edged tool?

Obvious answer:
—When it is dull.

ARE your knives and scissors sharp and keen? What about the saw that hangs in the cellar—will it cut when you want it? And the meat saw and the hatchet—are they ready for use? What about the lawn mower that pushed so hard last summer?

WE sharpen all edged tools and retooth saws. Your work is done by experts with the latest and best equipment. Prices are very reasonable.

UNCLE CY'S COLUMN

March 3, 1930.

My Dear Uncle Cy:

Really, Uncle Cy, your readers should know what an admirable host you are! That luncheon (or should I say "lunch"? Miss Evans has me so disconcerted) was a thorough delight, made the more so by its donor.

Do you know, I have been wondering whether your readers would be more interested in where we were—or perhaps, in where we might have been? Do you suppose they are wondering about what we said? As a matter of fact, just what do a columnist and a minister talk about when they lunch? (Here used as a verb.) It was only afterwards that I realized we had missed some excellent opportunities to use Bulbul, Tatterdemalion and Kickshaw! Ah, well, another time perhaps!

Very cordially yours,
ROBERT E. KEIGHTON.

Nepi therefore asked permission to move it to the northeast corner, which brought it into close proximity to the Woodbine Avenue properties.

RICHARDS-FISHER HAS REAL SERVICE

That no more reliable and efficient service can be had than that afforded by many business houses in this community is a conviction shared by an increasing number of residents here. Take the case of the local Ford dealers, for instance.

We visited the Richards-Fisher Company the other day. Ford dealers for Bala-Cynwyd, Narberth and Merion, their sales and service department is on Montgomery Pike, Cynwyd, midway between the Cynwyd fire house and the busy intersection of Old Lancaster Road and Levering Mill Road.

Curiosity prompted us to visit the salesroom, to observe the reason for the popularity of the new Ford, of which 3,000,000 have been produced since its introduction in 1928. Walter B. Richards explained to us the beauty and enduring qualities of the new Ford, and then showed us the parts department. We saw thousands of parts for the old and the new Ford, neatly arranged in bins, properly numbered. It was explained that this stock is necessary so that no matter what happens to a Ford car, it may be taken care of without any delay due to lack of materials. Also, the small tools, neatly arranged, were exhibited, all designed for a particular use, and all ready for the saving of a customer's time and money.

The shop, in which repairs are made by skilled mechanics directed by Harry H. Fisher, was then visited, and it was most interesting. Expert mechanics, factory trained by the Ford Motor Company, are ready for any job, in clean uniforms. Every piece of equipment in the shop is the latest in design, recommended by the Ford Motor Company. All work is done on a flat rate basis, and we were agreeably surprised at the reasonableness of the charges both for labor and materials.

We could not help but be impressed by the care and consideration given customers. The local Ford agency's accurate follow-up record on all work—its thorough inspection of every car—its guarantee of workmanship and materials—convinced the writer that his next car should be a new Ford, and that no better sales and service could be had than that of the Richards-Fisher Company.—(Advt.)

WEISS ROLLS HIGH 244

With the second half of the bowling season drawing to a close, the Pilots have strong hopes of capturing the flag. The Colts will require some watching, however, as they are stepping some, having taken three games from the Boosters last Friday. Captain Weiss, of the Lions, with another high score of 244, is spurring his team on. It is surmised that the captain is shooting for that grand prize, a perfect 300 score.

This amount represents taxes for individuals and properties which were not entered in the duplicate for the year 1929 furnished the Tax Collector, and develop principally when paid to Tax Collector with no bill to cover. List of total amounts so collected is sent by Tax Collector to the Assessor, who in turn sends it to Norristown for approval by Commissioners as an addition to the Duplicate.

Authority for the above amount has not been received, but as most of this amount has been collected and paid to the Borough Treasurer it was necessary to show the charge in this report to offset cash credit which is included therein.

Lower Merion Five Ends Regular Season

Beat Norristown 53-22 For the Twenty-first Win in Last League Game.

PLAY FOR STATE TITLE

Lower Merion's most remarkable basketball season in history is fast drawing to a close. The league competition for the year came to an end last Friday night as the Maroon quintet again humbled their arch-enemy, Norristown, in a one-sided affair, 53 to 22.

John Pennypacker led his teammates in the high-scoring spree with sixteen points. Alfred Bonniwell from the pivot position dropped thirteen points through the net and all the other boys on the team did some timely scoring throughout the contest.

Anderson withdrew Captain Warren Lockwood from the game during the fourth quarter. He was being roughed up considerably and Coach Bill figured he had best save him from possible injury and have him intact for the State championships. Kleintop, Norristown's husky guard, aggravated an old knee injury for the Merionite captain in the first few minutes of play and Lockwood had to have time called for him. He continued to play after a few minutes, but was handled rather roughly as the game progressed.
